

Per-layer persona-axis projections

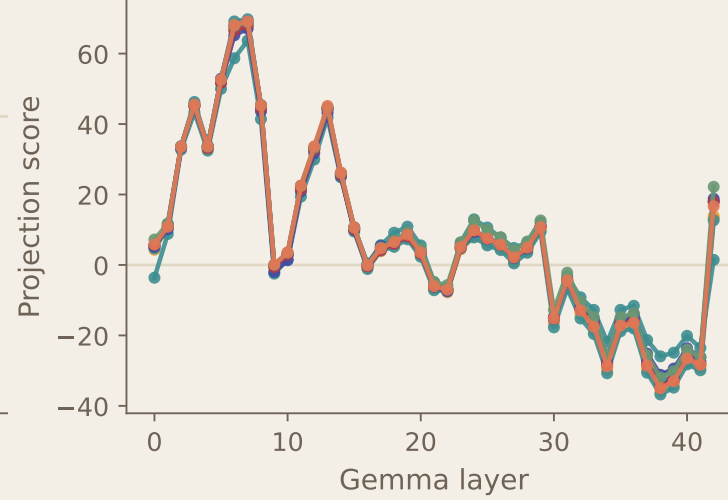

Refusal Stiffness

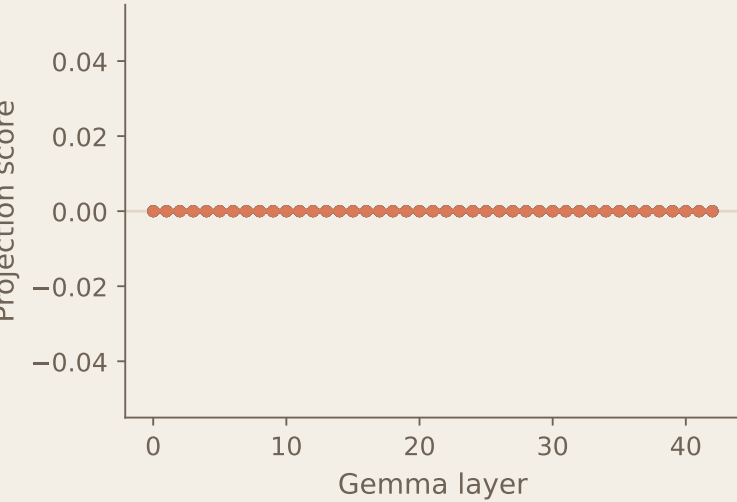

Sycophancy

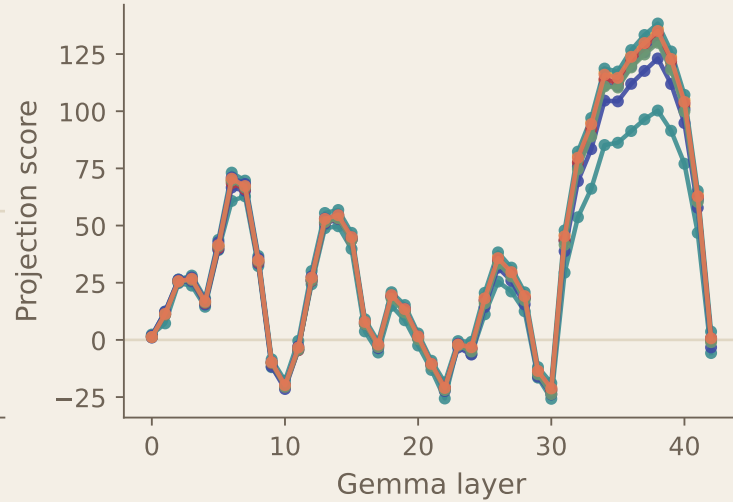

Hedge Density

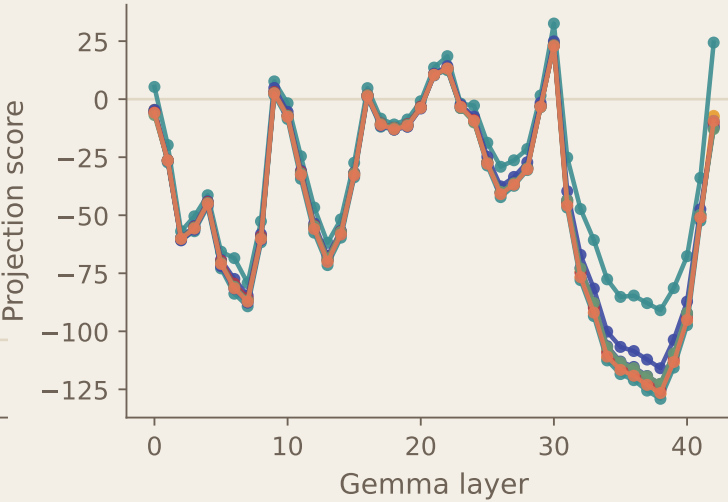

Harmfulness

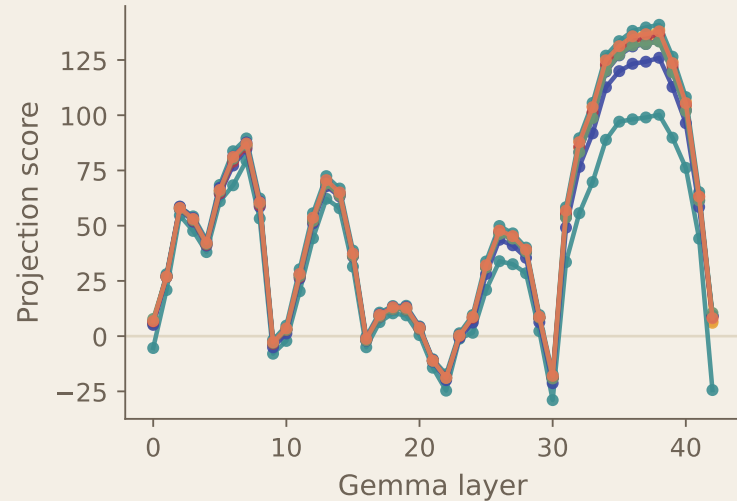

Warmth

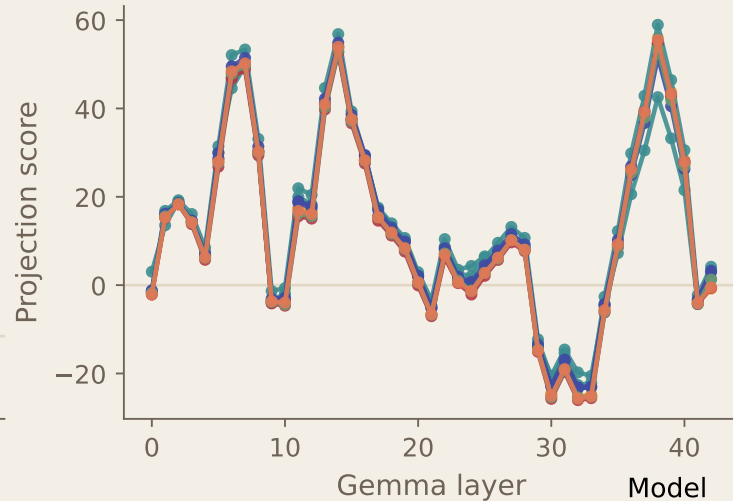

Bluntness

Verbosity

Creature Whimsy

How to read

Each panel shows how strongly each model's responses project onto a persona axis as we move through the prober's layers (Gemma-4).

- Curves trace mean projection across prompts at each layer.
- If lines stack on top of each other, it means the prober's per-layer geometry dominates over model-to-model differences.

See the residual variant (04b) for the model-specific signal alone.

